

SECTION 1

INTRODUCTION

This Section Covers

- Commercial Motor Vehicles
- Commercial Driver License Classes, Endorsements & Restrictions
- Commercial Driver License Requirements
- Commercial Driver License Tests
- Additional Requirements For Bus Drivers
- Driver Disqualifications
- Other CDL Rules

1.1 - Commercial Motor Vehicles (CMV)

You must have a Commercial Driver License (CDL) to operate any of the following CMVs:

- Any single vehicle with a gross vehicle weight rating (GVWR) of 26,001 pounds or more.
- A trailer with a GVWR of more than 10,000 pounds if the gross combination weight rating (GCWR) is 26,001 pounds or more.
- A vehicle designed to transport 15 or more passengers (excluding the driver) or a vehicle defined as a bus under Article 19-A, Section 509-a of the NYS Vehicle and Traffic Law (VTL).
- Any size vehicle that is used in the transportation of any material that requires hazardous materials placards or any quantity of a material listed as a select agent or toxin in 42 CFR 73. Federal regulations through the Department of Homeland Security require a background check and fingerprinting for the Hazardous Materials endorsement.

EXEMPTIONS

Drivers of the following vehicles that otherwise meet the definition of a CMV are exempt from the CDL requirement:

- A vehicle owned and controlled by a farmer that has a GVWR of more than 26,000 lbs and is used to transport agricultural products, farm machinery, or farm products within 150 miles of the farm
- A vehicle primarily designed for purposes other than the transportation of persons or property (commonly referred to as Special Purpose Commercial) with a GVWR of 26,000 lbs or less or, if the GVWR is more than 26,000 lbs, not able to be operated at normal highway speeds
- Fire and police vehicles engaged in emergency operations in New York State
- Military vehicles or combination of vehicles operated by members of the armed forces
- Personal vehicles (including rental vehicles up to 26,000 lbs GVWR) when operated strictly and exclusively to transport personal possessions or family members for non-commercial purposes.

1.2 - Commercial Driver License Classes, Endorsements & Restrictions

Commercial driver license classes, endorsements and restrictions are based on the type of CMV driven. The type of CMV is determined by the vehicle manufacturer's GVWR (for single vehicles) or GCWR (for combination vehicles), construction or use. (Under the NYS VTL, CMV weight classifications are based on the greater of the following weights: manufacturer's GVWR or GCWR, registration weight, or actual weight of the vehicle(s) and load.) CDL classes, endorsements and restrictions, therefore, correspond to vehicle weight, construction or use, as shown in Figure 1.1 on page 1-2.

* Prior to May 1, 2003, the letter "S" was used on the front of the driver license for the Tow Truck endorsement. The tow truck "S" endorsement is valid until the next DMV CDL is issued (e.g. renewal, duplicate), when the "S" will be converted to "W".

 Under Article 19-A of the NYS VTL, a CDL with the passenger ("P") endorsement is required to transport passengers in vehicles defined as buses, or that are designed to seat 15 or more adult passengers (excluding the driver), regardless of GVWR; The "P" endorsement AND school bus ("S") endorsement are required to transport students to or from school in a school bus with a GVWR of more than 26,000 lbs, or that are designed to seat 15 or more adult passengers (excluding the driver), regardless of GVWR.

 Under the NYS VTL, drivers of vehicles required to have hazardous materials placards must have a CDL, regardless of the weight of the vehicle. See sub-section 1.6.6 and Section 9 of this manual for HazMat endorsement requirements.

1.3 – Commercial Driver License Requirements

There is a federal requirement that each state have minimum standards for the licensing of commercial drivers. New York State driver licensing standards comply with the federal Commercial Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1986 (CMVSA/86) and the Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act of 1999 (MCSIA/99). To get a NYS CDL you must meet the following standards and requirements:

1.3.1 – Residency Requirement

You must be a resident of New York State to be issued a NYS CDL. A driver holding a CDL issued by another jurisdiction who moves to New York must apply for a NYS CDL within 30 days after establishing residency. A new resident may apply to exchange a CDL issued by another jurisdiction for a NYS CDL (reciprocity). However, to keep a Hazardous Material (HazMat) endorsement, you must pay the test fee, take and pass the HazMat written knowledge test (a score of 80% is passing), and pay for and pass a background investigation. (See Section 9, Hazardous Materials.)

1.3.2 – Age Requirement

Class A – You must be at least 21 years of age.

Class B and C – You must be at least 18 years of age, but if under 21, you can drive a CMV only for intrastate commerce (within New York State), cannot transport students in a school bus, and cannot transport hazardous material.

1.3.3 – Language Requirement

You must be able to read and speak the English language well enough to:

- converse with other people,
- understand highway traffic signs and signals in the English language,
- answer questions from officials, and
- make entries on reports and records

1.3.4 – Medical Requirement

The federal government requires most CMV drivers to have a medical examination in order to detect physical or mental conditions that may affect their ability to operate a motor vehicle safely. The examination requirements are found in the U.S. Department of Transportation's (USDOT) Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations under 49 CFR Part 391. The USDOT medical exam covers 13 areas that directly relate to the ability to drive safely. You must pass the USDOT medical examination, and receive a medical examiner's certificate. When completing an MV-44 application to apply for or renew a NYS CDL, you must enter information from the certificate to prove you meet this standard. (There are some exceptions, described in the last bullet in this section.) The physical examination conducted just for bus drivers who are subject to Article 19-A of the NYS Vehicle and Traffic Law does not meet the requirements of Part 391 of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, unless the federal medical standards, procedures and forms were used, and you received a "Medical Examiner's Certificate".

- WHO MAY PERFORM THE MEDICAL EXAM? A licensed "medical examiner" must perform the USDOT medical exam. The term "medical examiner" includes, but is not limited to, doctors of medicine (MD), doctors of osteopathy (DO), physician assistants (PA), advanced practice nurses (APN), and doctors of chiropractic (DC). There are different requirements for who may perform and sign the medical examination for bus drivers subject to Article 19-A. (This is explained in Section 10, and applies to all bus drivers, not just drivers of school buses.)

- HOW DO I FIND A LICENSED MEDICAL EXAMINER? Ask your primary health care provider if they will perform the USDOT medical exam. If not, you may find a medical examiner in the yellow pages of your telephone book, or on the Internet by using one of the Internet directories, under the category "Occupational Health". If your medical examiner does not have a copy of the USDOT's Medical Examination Report, one can be downloaded from the USDOT's website at: <http://www.fmcsa.dot.gov/documents/safetyprograms/Medical-Report.pdf>
- WHAT IS A MEDICAL EXAMINER'S CERTIFICATE? The medical examiner's certificate is attached to the Medical Examination Report, mentioned above. If you pass the exam, the medical examiner should complete the certificate and give it to you to show that you passed. You will need information on the certificate to complete your application for a NYS CDL and to renew a NYS CDL. You must always carry a valid certificate with you when driving a CMV in interstate commerce.
- HOW LONG IS THE MEDICAL EXAMINER'S CERTIFICATE VALID? A USDOT medical exam is normally valid for 24 months. However, your medical examiner may give you a medical examiner's certificate that expires in less than 24 months in order to monitor a condition, such as high blood pressure, which the examiner wants to check more often than every two years.
- EXCEPTIONS. Federal regulations identify some CMV operations that require a CDL, but not a medical exam or a medical examiner's certificate. However, if you want to drive a CMV in interstate commerce, you must pass the USDOT medical examination and receive a medical examiner's certificate. You are exempt from needing a medical examiner's certificate if you:
 - are a government employee at any level of government (federal, state, or local, including school districts) driving government owned or leased CMVs in the course of official duties (municipal operations).
 - are an employee of a private business who drives CMVs only for school operations. (School operation is the use of a school bus, as defined in Section 142 of the NYS Vehicle & Traffic Law, to transport pupils, children of pupils, teachers and other persons acting in a supervisory capacity, from home bus stop to school, school to home, or school building to school building for an academic purpose.)

1.3.5 – Application and Written Testing Requirements

To get a Class A, B, or C CDL for the first time, to upgrade to a higher Class CDL, or to add a "P" or "S" endorsement to a CDL, you must first obtain a learner permit for the proper class and type of vehicle you plan to drive. To obtain the learner permit, you must already have a NYS driver license that is not suspended, revoked or cancelled. You must apply in person at a NYS motor vehicles office*. Appointments are not needed, however, you should contact the office if you have any special needs. Allow three hours to complete all of the processing, including test taking. Plan to arrive no later than three hours before the office's scheduled closing time. At the motor vehicles office you will:

- Complete an application form (MV-44), in which you must:
 - provide the address of your NYS residence;
 - list all the states (including the District of Columbia) in which you were licensed to drive over the past 10 years;
 - certify if you comply with the federal requirements for a CDL set forth in 49 CFR Part 391;
 - provide information from your medical examiner's certificate, if you meet the federal requirements.
- Show your NYS driver license.
- Show your Social Security Card, if NYS DMV has no record of your Social Security Number and you are asked to show your card.

- Pay the fees that cover the application, processing the photo document, and testing.
- Pass the general knowledge test and any necessary endorsement tests by answering at least 80% of the questions correctly (see section 1.4, below); you are not allowed to bring anything into the testing room or area except a pencil, and you must present your driver license again before you can take the test(s).

*Locations and hours of NYS motor vehicles offices may be found in your local telephone directory, at the NYS DMV web site at www.nysdmv.com/offices.htm, or by calling NYS DMV, weekdays (except state holidays) between 8:00 am and 4:00 pm (Eastern Time) at:

- 1-212-645-5550 or 1-718-966-6155 if calling from the New York City metropolitan area, from area codes 212, 347, 646, 718, or 917
- 1-800-DIAL-DMV (1-800-342-5368) if calling from area codes 516, 631, 845, or 914
- 1-800-CALL- DMV (1-800-225-5368) if calling from all other area codes in New York State
- 1-518-473-5595 if calling from locations outside of New York State

1.3.6 – Driving With Your Commercial Driver Learner Permit

Your commercial driver learner permit allows you to drive a vehicle of the class and type that matches the class and any endorsements of your permit, as long as:

- a driver holding a CDL of the same or higher class with the proper endorsements accompanies you at all times;
- your permit and the supervising driver's CDL do not have any restrictions that would prohibit driving in the practice vehicle; and
- you are not transporting any material that requires hazardous material (HazMat) placards or any quantity of material listed as a selected agent or toxin in 42 CFR 73, even when the supervising driver's CDL has a HazMat endorsement or you yourself hold a lower class of CDL with a HazMat endorsement.

1.3.7 – Skills Testing Requirements

To get your CDL you must pass the skills test in a representative vehicle – one that matches the class, type and use of the CDL you need. Study sections 11, 12 and 13 in this manual for details about the CDL skills test, and practice driving with your learner permit as much as possible until you are confident that you could pass the test. You may schedule your skills test either on-line at www.nysdmv.com or by telephone at 1-518-402-2100. It normally takes several weeks from the date that you make your appointment to the date of the test, so schedule your test early. You may also cancel a scheduled skills test on-line or by telephone, but you must cancel at least 72 hours before the scheduled test date. If you cancel later than that you will lose the skills test fee, and must pay the skills test fee again before rescheduling. Additional information for scheduling a skills test can be found on the DMV website mentioned above.

To pass the skills test you must demonstrate that you can inspect and operate the representative vehicle safely and competently, with 50 or fewer points deducted. If you pass, you will be instructed to wait seven days before going to a DMV office to apply for or amend your CDL. During that waiting period you will remain in permit status. The NYS DMV cannot issue a temporary CDL at the test site.

During the test, if you have or cause an accident, commit any single traffic violation or dangerous action, or lose more than 50 points, you will fail the skills test. If you fail a skills test you may schedule an appointment for the next test date, based on appointment availability. There is no minimum waiting period before retaking the skills test (except that you may take only one test per day), but the next appointment date may be several weeks from the date you make it. You must pay the skills test fee again before you can schedule your next appointment.

1.3.8 – Alcohol and Drug Testing Requirements

Under New York State law, any person who operates a motor vehicle in New York is deemed to have given consent to a chemical test of one or more of the following: breath, blood, urine or saliva, for the purpose of determining the alcoholic and/or drug content of the blood.

1.4 – Commercial Driver License Tests

To get a CDL, you must pass knowledge and skills tests. The sole purpose of this manual is to help you pass the tests. This manual is not a substitute for a commercial driver training class or program. Formal training is the most reliable way to learn the many special skills required for safely driving a large commercial vehicle and becoming a professional commercial driver. Section 1.4.1, below, shows the sections of this manual you should study for each particular class of license and for each endorsement.

1.4.1 – Knowledge Tests

You will have to take one or more knowledge tests, depending on what class of license and what endorsements you need. All test questions are multiple-choice; you must choose one correct answer from three choices. The passing score for each commercial driver knowledge test is 80%. If you fail a knowledge test you may retake it anytime, including the same day, provided there is enough time before the office closes. There is no limit to the number of times you can retake a knowledge test. When taking any CDL knowledge test, all test-takers should study Sections 1,2,3, and 11 of this manual in addition to the section(s) listed below. The CDL knowledge tests, and the additional sections of this manual that you should study to pass each of them, are:

- The General (Core) Knowledge Test, taken by all CDL applicants; Study Sections 1, 2, 3, and 11
- The Combination Vehicles Test, required to drive combination vehicles (Class A CDL); Study Sections 5 and 6
- The Doubles/Triples Test, required to pull double or triple trailers; Study Sections 6 and 7
- The Hazardous Materials Test, required to haul hazardous materials or waste in amounts that require placarding or any quantity of a material listed as a select agent or toxin in 42 CFR 73. In order to obtain this endorsement, you are also required to pass both a New York State and a Transportation Security Administration (TSA) background check; Study Section 9
- The Passenger Transport Test, taken by all bus driver applicants; Study Section 4
- The School Bus Test, required to drive a school bus with a GVWR of more than 26,000 lbs or designed to transport 15 or more passengers (excluding the driver); Study Section 10
- The Tank Vehicles Test, required to haul a liquid or liquid gas in a permanently mounted cargo tank rated at 119 gallons or more or a portable tank rated at 1,000 gallons or more; Study Sections 8 and 9
- The Air Brakes Test, which you must take if your vehicle has air brakes, including air-over-hydraulic brakes; Study Section 5

1.4.2 – Skills Test

If you pass the required knowledge test(s), you can take the CDL skills test. There are three types of general skills that will be tested: pre-trip inspection, basic vehicle control, and on-road driving. You must take the skills test in the class and type of vehicle for which you wish to be licensed.

Pre-trip Vehicle Inspection. You will be tested to see if you know whether your vehicle is safe to drive. You will be asked to do a pre-trip inspection of your vehicle and explain to the examiner what you would inspect and why. See Section 11 for details.

Basic Vehicle Control. You will be tested on your skill to control the vehicle. You will be asked to move your vehicle forward, backward, and turn it within a defined area. These areas may or may not be marked with traffic lanes, cones, barriers, or something similar. The examiner will tell you how each control test is to be done. See Section 12 for details.

On-road Test. You will be tested on your skill to safely drive your vehicle in a variety of traffic situations. The situations may include left and right turns, intersections, railroad crossings, curves, up and down grades, single or multi-lane roads, streets, or highways. The examiner will tell you where to drive. See Section 13 for details.

1.5 – Additional Requirements For Bus Drivers

All bus drivers in New York State must have CDLs, and employers must determine that the drivers they hire are qualified to drive buses. Furthermore, Article 19-A (Special Requirements For Bus Drivers) of the NYS VTL sets standards for bus drivers. Under this law, employers of bus drivers must:

- Conduct a background investigation of a new driver’s employment history for the past three years.
- Obtain driving records from all jurisdictions where the driver worked, lived or had a driver license or learner permit in the past 3 years.
- Tell drivers about the provisions of Article 19-A.
- Require that drivers take an initial physical examination and then follow-up exams every two years.
- Annually review the driving record of each driver to determine if he/she meets the minimum requirements to drive a bus.
- Annually observe each driver’s defensive driving performance while operating a bus carrying passengers.
- Give each driver a written or oral examination every two years to test his/her knowledge of the rules of the road, defensive driving practices and laws regulating bus driving in New York State.
- Give each driver a behind-the-wheel driving test every two years.
- Subject a driver who fails to provide notification of convictions and accidents to a five working-day suspension, or, if the conviction is for a misdemeanor or felony, a suspension equivalent to the number of working days a driver was not in compliance with the reporting requirements, or five working days, whichever is longer.

Additional Requirements For School Bus Drivers. Article 19-A requires that employers of school bus drivers request a criminal history check on each driver based on his/her fingerprints. NYS Education Department (NYSED) regulation further requires that drivers of school buses:

- Be at least 21 years of age.
- Take and pass a yearly follow-up physical exam.

If a bus driver fails to meet any of the legal or regulatory requirements, the employer must not allow the driver to operate a bus until requirements are met. The Department of Motor Vehicles also disqualifies drivers based on their driving record and criminal history.

1.6 – Driver Disqualifications

1.6.1 – General

You may not drive a commercial motor vehicle if you are disqualified for any reason.

1.6.2 – Alcohol, Leaving the Scene of an Accident, and Commission of a Felony

It is illegal to operate a CMV if your blood alcohol concentration (BAC) is .04% or more. If you operate a CMV, you shall be deemed to have given your consent to alcohol testing.

You will be put out-of-service for 24 hours if you have any detectable amount of alcohol under .04%.

You will lose your CDL for at least one year for a first offense for:

- Driving a CMV if your blood alcohol concentration is .04% or higher.
- Driving any vehicle under the influence of alcohol.
- Driving any vehicle while under the influence of a controlled substance.
- Refusing to undergo blood alcohol testing.
- Leaving the scene of an accident without reporting.
- Committing a felony involving the use of a vehicle.
- Operating a CMV while your CDL is revoked, suspended, or canceled for prior violations, or if disqualified from operating a CMV, or if convicted for causing a fatality through negligent operation of a CMV, including, but not limited to crimes of vehicular manslaughter or criminally negligent homicide.

You will lose your CDL for at least three years if the offense occurs while you are operating a CMV that is placarded for hazardous materials.

You will lose your CDL for life if convicted a second time for any of the offenses listed above.

You will lose your CDL for life if you use a CMV to commit a felony involving controlled substances.

1.6.3 – Serious Traffic Violations

Serious traffic violations include:

- Excessive speeding (15 mph or more above the posted limit)
- Reckless driving
- Improper or erratic lane changes
- Following a vehicle too closely
- Traffic offenses committed in a CMV in connection with fatal traffic accidents
- Operating a CMV without first obtaining a CDL
- Operating a CMV without a CDL in the driver's possession
- Operating a CMV without the proper class of CDL and/or endorsement for the specific vehicle being operated or for the passengers or type of cargo being transported

You will lose your CDL:

- For at least 60 days if you have committed two serious traffic violations within a three-year period involving a CMV.
- For at least 120 days for three serious traffic violations within a three-year period involving a CMV.

1.6.4 – Violation of Out-of-Service Orders

If a federal or state inspector judges your vehicle to be unsafe during an inspection, they will order it out-of-service. Operation of your vehicle before it is fixed is a violation of an out-of-service order.

You will lose your CDL:

- For at least 90 days if you have committed your first violation of an out-of-service order.
- For at least one year if you have committed two violations of out-of-service orders within a ten-year period.
- For at least three years if you have committed three or more violations of out-of-service orders within a ten-year period.

1.6.5 – Railroad-Highway Grade Crossing Violations

These violations include violation of a federal, state or local law or regulation pertaining to one of the following six offenses at a railroad-highway grade crossing:

- For drivers who are not required to always stop, failing to stop before reaching the crossing if the tracks are not clear.
- For drivers who are not required to always stop, failing to slow down and check that the tracks are clear of an approaching train.
- For drivers who are always required to stop, failing to stop before driving onto the crossing.
- For all drivers failing to have sufficient space to drive completely through the crossing without stopping.
- For all drivers failing to obey a traffic control device or the directions of an enforcement official at the crossing.
- For all drivers failing to negotiate a crossing because of insufficient undercarriage clearance.

You will lose your CDL:

- For at least 60 days for your first violation.
- For at least 120 days for your second violation within a three-year period.
- For at least one year for your third violation within a three-year period.

1.6.6 – Hazardous Materials Endorsement Background Check and Disqualifications

If you require a hazardous materials endorsement you will be required to submit your fingerprints and be subject to a background check.

You will be denied or you will lose your hazardous materials endorsement if you:

- Are not a lawful permanent resident of the United States.
- Renounce your United States citizenship.
- Are wanted or under indictment for certain felonies.
- Have a conviction in military or civilian court for certain felonies.
- Have been adjudicated as a mental defective or committed to a mental institution.
- Are considered to pose a security threat as determined by the Transportation Security Administration.

1.6.7 – Traffic Violations in Your Personal Vehicle

The Motor Carrier Safety Improvement Act (MCSIA) of 1999 requires a CDL holder to be disqualified from operating a commercial motor vehicle if the CDL holder has been convicted of certain types of moving violations in their personal vehicle. This includes: leaving the scene of an accident, violations involving alcohol and/or drugs, and felonies involving a motor vehicle.

If your license to operate your personal vehicle is revoked, cancelled, or suspended due to alcohol violations, you will lose your CDL for 1 year. If you are convicted of a second alcohol conviction in your personal vehicle, you will lose your CDL for life.

If your license to operate your personal vehicle is revoked, cancelled, or suspended, you may not obtain a “hardship” license to operate a CMV.

1.7 – Other CDL Rules

There are other federal and state rules that affect drivers operating CMVs in all states. Among them are:

1.7.1 – Licensing Rules

- No one can drive a commercial motor vehicle without a CDL. A court may fine you up to $5,000 or put you in jail for breaking this rule.
- You cannot have more than one license. If you break this rule, a court may fine you up to $5,000 or put you in jail and keep your home state license and return any others.
- You must notify NYS DMV within 30 days if you are convicted in any other jurisdiction of any traffic violation (except parking). This is true no matter what type of vehicle you were driving.
- If you have a hazardous materials endorsement, you must notify and surrender your hazardous materials endorsement to the state that issued your CDL within 24 hours if:
 - you are convicted, indicted, or found not guilty by reason of insanity in any jurisdiction, civilian or military, for a disqualifying crime listed in 49 CFR 1572.103;
 - you are adjudicated as a mental defective or committed to a mental institution as specified in 49 CFR 1572.109; or
 - you renounce your U.S. citizenship.
- All states are connected to one computerized system to share information about CDL drivers. The states will check driving records and make sure that drivers do not have more than one CDL.

1.7.2 – Employment Rules

- You must give your employer information on all driving jobs you have held for the past 10 years. You must do this when you apply for a commercial driving job.
- You must notify your employer within 30 days of conviction for any traffic violations (except parking). This is true no matter what type of vehicle you were driving.
- You must notify your employer if your license is suspended, revoked, or canceled, or if you are disqualified from driving.
- Your employer may not let you drive a commercial motor vehicle if you have more than one license or if your CDL is suspended or revoked. A court may fine the employer up to $5,000 or put him/her in jail for breaking this rule.
